

Shereese L. Slate is a CEO, Author, Speaker, Celebrity Hairstylist, Cancer Survivor, and well-respected hair, beauty and makeup expert. Slate's remarkable celebrity clientele, accolades and recognition as a well-respected and talented hair stylist has earned her many prestigious honors that include the selection by the USA International Fashion Shows to be the premier fashion hairstylist for its coveted New York City Couture Fashion Week.

Slate's sultry hairstyle creations have been showcased on top the shoulders of countless music artists including legendary soulstress and Grammy® award-winner Pattie Labelle, Ciara, Ashanti, Monica, Foxy Brown, The Clark Sisters, Yolanda Adams, Lisa Page Brooks, Star Jones, and many more.

Slate is inspired to change lives one head at a time, by encouraging, empowering, and educating women from the inside out. Slate founded an innovative hair sales company in 2007, SheWear Hair Care™; re-launched in 2011 as a direct sales hair company. SheWear's premier product line is Celebrity Hair, a high-quality line of hair that enhances the natural beauty of women, while making them feel good and confident about themselves. "I wanted to create an outlet for women to wear hair weaves and extensions that are both flawless and affordable" Says, Slate. The company is the first of its kind to offer hair weave/extensions, wigs, and beauty products to customers via home parties facilitated by hair consultants, all over the country. SheWear is on track to becoming the largest mobile hair and beauty business.

Slate's extraordinary commitment to the community keeps her traveling around the globe educating audiences on the importance of image, appearance, hairstyling, haircutting and the art of creating professional hair weaves and extensions. She diligently works to develop programs and events that educate and motivate women of all ages, and she offers hair and beauty tips weekly on nationally syndicated radio programs. Additionally, through her charitable organization, S Girl Network, Slate teaches women of all ages effective ways to seek and exude inner and outer beauty.

Slate is also the author of 101 Recipes for Romantic Ideas, which was written to inspire creative romance. With a deep passion for writing, she has been busy working on new projects, Slate's latest book is called, "Becoming A Celebrity Hairstylist". Slate is currently working on her memoir and resides in Arlington, TX with her family.

---

Shereese L. Slate is available for local, national and international booking as a speaker, guest panelist, judge or hair & makeup stylist. To schedule Shereese L. Slate for your event or project, please email booking@shereeseslate.com. For more information about Shereese L. Slate and SheWear Hair Care™, visit the websites at www.shereeseslate.com and www.shewearhair.com.